

Komatsu's triple support

Destitute women, tribal children and Sevalaya elders benefit

Japanese multinational Komatsu has come forward to support multiple initiatives with Sevalaya. The company has funded the refurbishment of various facilities at Sevalaya's 30-year-old Sri Ramakrishna Paramahansa Old Age Home at Kasuva.

Komatsu has also funded 100 sewing machines for destitute women living near Sunguvarchatram, Kanchipuram District. The third area to benefit from the largesse is education in the predominantly tribal communities of a couple of villages in Gudalur, Nilgiri district. The implementation partner is Sevalaya Group organisation, Sevalaya Samaritan Gramodharan Samithy which runs a hospital primarily to serve the tribal communities of the region.

Making elders' life easy

As a part of its CSR initiative, Komatsu sponsored infrastructure support worth around ₹7,00,000 for Sevalaya's old age home at Kasuva village at a function held on 26th October 2022.

Hiroshi Shirato, Plant Director, Komatsu India Private Limited gifted 15 steel cots with mattresses, 24 ceiling fans, 57 LED tube lights, 20 steel cupboards, a mixie, 2 water dispensers, a washing machine, 10 flasks, 4 vegetable cutters, 10 hot water kettles and, steel and brass vessels.

Speaking on the occasion, Hiroshi, Plant Director, said that his company is engaged in a host of socially beneficial activities including tree plantation, renovation of ponds and supporting underprivileged people. "We are extremely happy to support Sevalaya's Old Age Home to make the elders' lives comfortable", he said. He advised the students to seize every opportunity in life, work hard, be successful and give back to society. S Kailash, Senior Manager, HR and GA and Takahashi, HR Manager also took part.

Skilling rural women

Paari Sridattan, Deputy Plant Director at Komatsu distributes 100 sewing machines to underprivileged women

As part of its CSR initiative, the Japanese company Komatsu funded 100 sewing machines, worth ₹6,50,000, for destitute women living near Sunguvarchatram.

Sevalaya is the implementation partner, identifying the beneficiaries, purchasing the machines, and coordinating the distribution.

Paari Sridattan, Deputy Plant Director at Komatsu, distributed the sewing machines on 22nd October 2022. He said that Komatsu was happy to partner with Sevalaya in serving the underprivileged.

Takahashi, HR Manager, expressed his hope that this donation would help the women improve their quality of life.

S Kailash handing over blanket to a tribal woman

As a part of its CSR initiative, Komatsu, partnered with Sevalaya Samaritan Gramodharan Samithy (Sevalaya SGS) and sponsored 2 Education resource centres in Kallachil and Bennai villages in Gudalur, Nilgiris Dt.

For each centre Komatsu has sponsored a smart board with an internet connection, 10 sets of desks and benches, 10 chairs, a library rack, a steel cupboard, and library books worth ₹15,000.

Komatsu is also sponsoring the staff salary and evening snacks for the children attending the centre. At a function held on 2nd November 2022, S Kailash, Senior Manager HR and GA, inaugurated the first tuition centre in Kallachil village, Panthalur Taluk, Gudalur. The resource centre in Kallichal village is located in a Panchayat building which was fully whitewashed and spruced up by the volunteers from the community.

S Kailash, Senior Manager HR and GA, Komatsu India Private Limited said that his company "was happy to partner with Sevalaya, inspired by Bharathi, Gandhi and Vivekananda, in reaching such services to the needy in remote villages".

K T Surendar, a community leader, participated in the function. He thanked Komatsu and Sevalaya SGS for creating the educational facility in the village, which promises great benefit the new next generation. C Narayani, Union Councillor and many villagers and children participated in the function.

The second Education Resource centre was inaugurated at Bennai village. The whole village wore a festive look.

Traditional tribal music was played welcoming the Guests. C Vasu, a local community member, has kindly offered his two houses in the village to accommodate the resource centre in this village.

Union Councillor Anitha Ramesh Puthurkadu, G Meenakshi, President of the School Management Committee, A K Rajendran, Vice President of the Folk Music Artists Association, A Sabadu, Social worker and local auto driver A Kumar participated in the function and offered their congratulations.

Graduation day

Sevalaya's Community College, Gudalur organized a ceremony for awarding certificates to 38 students who completed training in tailoring and free sewing machines to 16 underprivileged students. The function was held at Janaki Ammal Wedding Hall, Gudalur on 29th October 2022.

The Special Guests were Girija Sudhakar Ram, Director and Trustee, Pavitra

Foundation, Mumbai, and Vennila, 3rd Ward Councillor, Gudalur. Vennila advised the women to learn tailoring by enrolling for the free training programme offered by Sevalaya. She also said Sevalaya, in addition to free training, is also empowering you by providing free sewing machines. You should set up your own tailoring unit and become an entrepreneur."

Girija Sudhakar Ram congratulated the women who successfully completed the tailoring course. She also encouraged them to make use of the skill to develop and achieve success in life.

Painting by staff

The staff at Gudalur centre took up the job of painting the Sevalaya's Samaritan Hospital, Gudalur as well as the resource centre at Bennai village on October 2022.

This resulted in saving of ₹1 lakh towards painting charges.

Quality month celebrations

Sevalaya has been celebrating Quality month for the past two years. This year also various competitions were held across all centres of Sevalaya, in the

A window for hope, a dream that motivates

What is sports? Is it trying to run the fastest one can? Is it attempting the longest or the highest jump? Or, is it throwing the shot or javelin the farthest?

For orphaned girls such as Akshaya and Pavithra, sports is a lot more than defying the force of gravity.

For someone who doesn't know her parents, it is remarkable that her smile never leaves S Akshaya. Her earliest memories are about her childhood in a hostel. Five years back, that hostel was shut down and Akshaya was among the girls shifted to Sevalaya home for girls, at Kasuva. She was in the 5th Standard then. She joined other girls in the basketball court and soon picked up the game. She showed speed and ball handling skills. Soon, just into her teens, she was so good that she was part of the School under-19 team. She made up for her lack of height with accurate long shots and clever passing.

Athletics coach V Nithyanandam noticed Akshaya's skills. And introduced her to pole vault. Thanks to a generous sponsorship of Hatley, Sevalaya now had access to equipment for different jumps. The lockdown period robbed her and other athletes many months of practice.

To make up, parallelly with basketball, she started investing more time in athletics practice. Akshaya was a member of the School's 4x400 meters relay team that won at the Zonal competition. This small built girl topped in pole vault at the District competitions, in under 15. With the State competition in mind, she now focuses on her individual event of pole vault, strengthening her shoulders, spending time at the Gym. Her coach believes she can improve a lot by improving shoulder strength and technique.

She has a child's dream of playing Olympics in Basketball, unaware of India's world ranking. Her mission in life is lot more real and praiseworthy: coach disadvantaged children like herself.

M Pavithra, along with her younger brother M Vignesh, joined Sevalaya in 2018. They do not remember their parents. They were both in a hostel in Thirumullaivayil that was closed down. They were both in the 9th Standard, when they were shifted to Sevalaya by the Child Welfare Committee.

That changed things for both. In the compulsory sports hours, Pavithra picked up handball. Vignesh liked Volley ball. She grew tall to reach the current 175 cms.

She is 18 years, promising more height. Coach Nithyanandam 'discovered' her and introduced her to shot put and discus throws. Improving rapidly, Pavithra ended with silver in shot put at the District meet. She is also a member of the under 19 handball team of Sevalaya that will play at the State meet.

Unlike earlier days when she was a late riser, now she is up and ready for practice at 5.30 am. Nearly 3 hours of daily action has improved her appetite. Her great joy is to share with Vignesh their successes on the sports field. Of course, the brother and the sister encourage each other by saying that sports will help them get over a life with little else that cheers. She is overcome by emotions when she narrates this.

Pavithra has grown in confidence. She wants to become an IPS.

To Akshaya and Pavithra, sports is an elevator to exit the cruelty of fate. Sports promises freedom from a pitiable childhood. A window for hope. A dream that motivates. Both Akshaya and Pavithra are headed for the Tamilnadu State meet.

No small achievement by two destitute girls!

Sevalaya's sports talent search and nurturing programme, supervised by Physical Director A Sankarapandian, now supported by Sevalaya alumni and Asst Coach G Kavitha, has been greatly benefited by some thoughtful support.

The Gym, which has improved fitness and strength of the athletes, was sponsored by Petrofac Engineering Services in 2018. With Matexnet sponsoring Coaches for Athletics, Handball, Basketball and Volleyball, from April 2022, Sevalaya sports got another fillip. Donor Seetharaman Narayanan, funds all tournament travel and conveyance, as also nutritious food for the 168 chosen sportspersons, through 2022.

Vasanth, co-ordinator of the event explained about the principles of electronics by connecting circuits based on methodologies like series circuit, parallel circuit, sensor street light and Traffic signals. The students enjoyed and learnt about circuits throughout the event.

Thillaiyadi Valliamma - (5)

(Source: "Agony of Valliamma" by Aziz Hassim)

Hearing of the incident, P.K.Naidoo and Thambi Naidoo were worried as to what would befall Valliamma. At this juncture news came to them that the policeman with whom Valliamma had an encounter came to her house an hour ago with a large number of people and was screaming for her. She was not at home and they had taken her parents away. The Naidoos were worried what would Valliamma do next. They must find her and take Gandhi to go with them to the Police Station.

When Valliamma entered the house, she found it was wide open and nobody was there. The neighbours told her that her parents were treated rudely and were taken away by a gang of ruffians. Meantime, Thambi Naidoo, Gandhi and H O Ally arrived on the scene told her that it was the police who had taken her parents away. The trio were proceeding to the police station and that she could accompany them.

At the Police Station, Gandhi was polite but assertive in his discussion with the officials. They had illegally detained an innocent couple and the repercussion would be bad. With a view to avoiding collision, he advised them to release them, as otherwise he would be constrained to escalate the matter to General Smuts. The officials knew Gandhi's influence with General Smuts. Having no other option, they released the couple.

Valliamma had an aside with the comrades and told them that the official to whom Gandhi was talking courteously was the one who beat up the old man. She was none too pleased with the pacific stance of Gandhi. She expressed her view that some firm steps had to be taken to stop the menace. The three appreciated her firm determination. They had also noted her approach was non-violent and Dharmic. It was because of her parents, the Moodliars, who were active passive resisters. Gandhi, the Kaliyuga Yudhishtira he was, told her "Their Karma will manifest itself in the years to come." Valliamma could not resist firmly telling him, "I am not prepared to suffer until someday their Karma catches up with them. The time is now. I am their Karma, and now I am knocking on their door."

Valliamma was walking along in a lonely road in Johannesburg. She had a hunch that somebody was following her. Before she could react, the Policeman from whom she had earlier rescued Amod, confronted her. He gave her a hard slap. Blood was dripping down from her upper lip down the cheek. The attacker was grinning with delight, his fingers bunching as he readied himself for the next blow. At this juncture, a tall, hefty Zulu stepped between them and demanded of the cop to leave her. There was a heated discussion. As the two were locked up in a quarrel, Valliamma took the earlier "Durga Avatar". The cop was reduced to a quivering coward. He virtually took to his heels. The Zulu was surprised at the turn. They exchanged information and at the end she invited him to her house and the rally being organized the next day.
